

Assignment 6: DML- Subqueries

Subqueries:

- 1) Print the firstname and last name of customer who placed their order before date 2017-01-05'.
- 2) Display the names of the products order by customer with ID = 1.
- 3) Display the details of the product whose price is less than the average of all the product price.
- 4) Display the details of the product having maximum price.
- 5) Display the id of the customers who has ordered the most expensive product. Make sure that only distinct Id's of customers will be printed. Also ordered the customer Id's in descending order. (Hint: find the list of the products having maximum price and then find the customer ids.
- 6) For every customer, Display product name, product Id, customer Id, price of those customer who has ordered products having their price less than the average of all the product prices.
- 7) For every customer, Display product name, product Id, customer Id, price and customer's first name, last name of those customer who has ordered products having maximum price.